MACKENSEN'S ADVANCE CHECKED WHEN LINES REACHED SERETH

Austrian Guns Are Pounding Away at Cena Towns in Tromis Valley.

ITALIAN FRONT ACTIVE

Where Austrians Are Reported Repulsed in Attack South of Gorizia.

Petrograd, Jan. 19.—Reports are that Austrian guns are pounding the Cena towns of the Tronus valley.

Berlin reports that Russian attacks in Suchitza valley failed.

General von Mackensen's advance has been checked against the lines at Sereth.

At least Berlin reports no important activity along the front between Fokshani and Galatz, where General von Mackensen has been advancing recently.

On the western front there has been only small and partial engagements along the British end of the line and intermittent bombardments.

Near Zeborow, in Galicia, the Austro-Germans' raid was repulsed by the Russians.

An Austrian offensive south of Gorizia, on the Italian front, has been repulsed, according to Rome.

Three neutral vessels, two Spanish and one Danish, have been sunk, London announces.

Munitions Factory Lets Go.

Associated Press, Jan. 19.—An explosion in a munitions factory near London is feared by the ministry to have caused considerable loss of life and damage to property.

YARROWDALE IS IN HARBOR

Reports State She Arrived in a Port With Crews of Vessels Sunk by the Raider.

Berlin, Jan. 19.—The British steamer Yarrowdale, carrying four hundred and sixty-nine prisoners was brought into harbor by a prize crew on December thirty-first, it was officially announced here tonight. The prisoners comprised the crews of eight steamers captured by the German auxiliary cruiser in the Atlantic ocean.

Seven of the eight vesels taken and sunk were British merchantmen and one Norwegian. They caried large consignments of war materials and foodstuffs for teh allies.

The announcement said the arrival of the Yarrowdale had been kept secret for military reasons, but recent London announcements about the raiders activities caused it to be made public.

A dispatch from Rio Janeiro Tuesday said the report received that the Yarrowdale arrived at St. Vincent Cape, Verde Islands, January nineteenth.

PROGRESSIVES HELD UP CONFIRMATION

Washington, Jan. 19.—The nomination of William Denan, of San Francisco, Bernard Baker, of Baltimore, James B. White, of Kansas City, and Theodore Brent, of New Orleans, as members of the Federal Shipping Board, were confirmed by the senate, tonight.

The opposition of progressive republicans to John A. McDonald, of New York, the fifth member of the board, held up his confirmation.

WHIPPLE TO ACCEPT LEAK APPOINTMENT

Boston, Jan. 19.—Sherman Whipple, designated by the house rules committee to act as special counsel to the leak investigation, left tonight for Washington, to confer with the committee.

Mr. Whipple said that he would probably accept the appointment.

It is not expected by Whipple that the committee will proceed with the inquiry.

He said that if he accepted, he would ask for time to prepare the case.

Public Buildings Bill Carrying $140,000 For Florida Will Be Vetoed

(Special to The Herald.)

Washington, Jan. 19.—Omnibus buildings bill passed the house late, today, 234 to 92, carries thirty-eight million for buildings, improvements and sites throughout the country.

The bill contains seven items apportiating $140 for federal building construction in Florida.

The Florida items are $35,000 to build a postoffice at Kisimmee, $35,000 to build a postoffice at Lake City, $40,000 for a site and building at Clearwater, $5,000 for a site at Arcadia, $5,000 at Monticello, $5,000 at Perry, and $35,000 for site for the postoffice and other government offices at West Palm Beach.

There is a considerable probability that the year's hard work and most successful efforts of Congressman Frank Clark, of Florida, in getting the bill through the house will be brought to naught by the defeat of the measure in the senate.

President Wilson has strongly intimated that owing to the fact that the treasury faces a serious deficit and that money is more urgently needed for national preparedness, he will veto the bill if it comes to him for his signature.

He told Congressman Clark and other leaders, a year ago and several times since, that he was opposed to the bill and would probably veto it if passed, now.

CONDEMNED TO CONTINUE

War Until Allies Can Obtain Reparation and Guarantees, Says Poincaire.

Paris, Jan. 19.—In an interview given to Edward Marshall, the American news writer, President Poincare declared that France and her allies were "condemned to continue the war until we can obtain reparation and guarantees rendered indespensible by agressions of which we have been the victims, sacrifices to which we have subjected ourselves and by losses suffered."

Speaking of the friendship of America and France, President Poincare said:

"This war could not alter the good relations between the United States and France. It has even made them closer."

Regarding President Wilson's note, he asserted:

"It will not be from our side that will come any repulse of the generous ideas of President Wilson regarding international agreements to be concluded as soon as peace has been declared."

CHARGED CONSPIRACY AGAINST THE U. S.

Brownsville, Texas, Jan. 19.—Rafael Cowen, on trial here charged with fraud, and Juan Gutierrez, the complaining witness against him, were arrested by the United States marshal, charged with conspiracy against the United States.

The warrant charges that Cowen was to deliver ammunition to certain parties in Matamoras.

CAPTURED STEAMER IS NOW RAIDER AUXILIARY

Washington, Jan. 19.—State department dispatches from Rio Janeiro, today, said that it is reported there that the steamer St. Theodore, captured by a German raider in the South Atlantic, has been armed and was cruising as an auxiliary raider and is manned by a German crew.

Consular reports, early today, announced the landing of the crew of St. Theodore, including nine Americans, at Pernambuco, Buenos Aires.

It is believed that the raiders are receiving wireless information from a Brazilian island.

ARRESTED IN JAPAN WITH WIRELESS PLANS

Kobe, Japan, Jan. 19.—Two foreigners, supposed to be Englishmen in the employ of an American company installing wireless plants, were arrested here and apparatus was confiscated. The names given were Scofield and Dresser.

It is understood that as a measure of precaution steamship companies have decided to discontinue publishing dates of arrivals and departures of vessels.

During the month of December, sixty-two California limited trains left Chicago for Los Angeles. This was seventeen more than were run during December, 1915.

NEW REVENUE BILL COMPLETE

Sub-Committee Ready to Submit Plan for Meeting Big Deficit.

Washington, Jan. 19.—A tentative draft of the administration revenue bill was completed, today, by the subcommittee of the house ways and means committee.

The democratic house caucus is expected to approve it, next week.

The measures propose to raise two hundred and thirty-six millian dollars from a tax on excess profits of business and increased rates on inheritances, and two hundred and eighty-nine million dollars from a bond issue.

The profits tax will levy eight per cent upon all profits of corporations and partnerships in excess of eight per cent of the capitalization.

WITHDRAWAL IS UNDER WAY SAY ARMY OFFICERS

Predicted Troops Under General Pershing Will Be at Border in Seventy-two Hours.

HEADQUARTERS MADE

And Returning Regulars Will Be Distributed Along the Boundary Line.

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 19.—Army officers unofficially reported, today, that the actual withdrawal operations of General Pershing's expedition at Elvalle, is under way, and predict that the entire expedition will march to Columbus, New Mexico, within seventy two hours.

Activities in Cases Grandes, Colonia, and Dublan districts and at Juarez and Columbus indicate an early withdrawal, officers say.

El Paso and San Antonio will be the headquarters of the troops to be disposed along the border.

Not Doubted in Washington.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Formal announcement of the withdrawal of General Pershing's expedition is still lacking, but there is no disposition among officers to doubt the border dispatches.

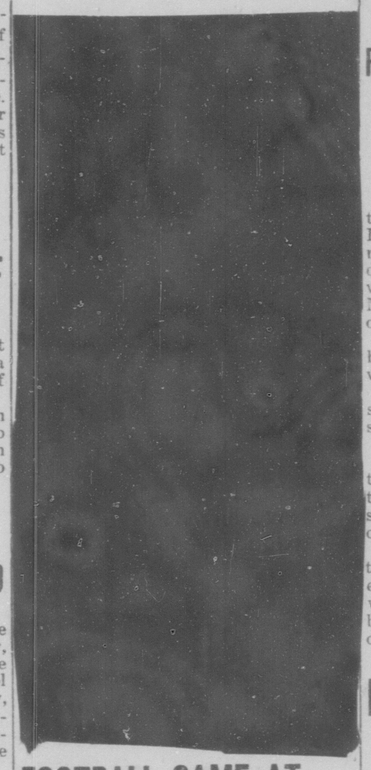

President Approves.

Washington, Jan. 19.—President Wilson has already approved the plan to withdraw the expedition and there has been intimation that the action would preceed and more statements on the subject.

All the details of the withdrawal are understood to have been left to General Funston and General Pershing, who have worked out a plan of distributing the twelve thousand men at points along the border.

As soon as these regulars are available, the homeward movement of the National Guard is expected to begin.

The plan has been to relieve a large part of the guard, if not all, immediately.

TRIBUTES TO MEMORY GEN. ROBERT E. LEE

Miami Daughters of Confederacy Presented a Program of Rare Interest.

PAPER BY MRS. LUMMUS

Musical Features and Eloquent Address by County Superintendent R. E. Hall.

Before the brilliant colors of the crossed banners of the Union and of the Confederacy, Southern Cross chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, last night presented to a large gathering in the Woman's Club auditorium a most interesting and impressive program in honor of the great general whom both the north and the south delights to honor, Robert E. Lee.

With flags draping the platform and bowls of red hibiscus adding to the color brilliancy, the program was from first to last one of great interest.

It was opened by the playing of Dixie by Mrs. Leroy Smith, in which also the audience joined very heartily, and this was followed by the invocation by Dr. Cason.

Mrs. J. N. Lummus then read a most eloquent tribute to the life and character of Robert E. Lee, and Mrs. Eugene Romfh delighted the audience with the rendition of two songs, "Ah Love, Awake," and "I Knew a Lovely Garden." Mrs. Romfh's lyric soprano was never heard to better advantage.

Mr. R. E. Hall, superintendent of schools, then gave the following tribute to General Lee:

Prof. Hall's Address.

"It is not considered good form to begin an address with an apology, but in justice to myself I am compelled to say that I received notice only two days ago that I was chosen as one of the speakers for this occasion. Being a busy man two days is a very short time in which to prepare an address of any kind, but when I am asked in that short time to say something about the greatest man the whole south has ever produced and to eulogize a general who is pronounced by many authorities to be the greatest military leader of the nineteenth century, I might be pardoned for undertaking a task so far above my ability to perform. But being a married man I have learned to move when woman speaks and to speak when woman nods. I am personally much gratified that I have been selected by the United Daughters of the Confederacy of Miami to add even a feeble word to the much that can be said of Marse Robert the beloved leader of the Confederacy. In his own veins coursed the proudest blood of American manhood and it is Robert E. Lee the man, of whom I would speak this evening.

"We might compare General Lee the soldier with such military geniuses as Alexander the Great, Julius Caesar, Napoleon, Frederick the Great and even our own Washington Marse Robert does not suffer in the comparson. But when we compare his life and character as a man with the lives and characters of the generals and conquerers I have mentioned we are compelled to admit that Lee stands out as the greatest of them all.

"Perhaps the character of Lee is best exemplified in that well known incident in his life which occurred shortly after the end of the civil war. It is said that Lee was offered the magnificent salary of fifty thousand dollars per annum for the use of his name as president of a life insurance company. Impoverished as he was it must have been a great temptation but nevertheless he did not swerve one inch from the high code of moral ethics which had characterized his previous life. He replied that his name was not for sale. While there was nothing really wrong in his accepting the offer yet he knew that it was his name they wanted and he was unwilling to trade upon the glory that was his in the four years of brilliant leadership of the lost cause. Not only did he refuse to accept this offer but shortly afterwards accepted a position as president of a struggling college at a small salary. And it was in the great cause of education that he labored till the close of his great life.

"By his soldiers Lee was affectionately called 'Marse Robert,' and this name naturally brings our minds to a contemplation of slavery, one of the causes of this great strugle between the north and the south. Naturally the uniformed would jump at the conclusion that General Lee must have been a believer in slavery. It is true that he was a slave owner but long before the war we find that he believed slavery to be an evil for the blacks and the whites. In 1856 he wrote: "There are few in this enlightened age who will not acknowledge that slavery as an institution is a moral and political evil in any country. I think it a greater evil to the white than to the black race. He regarded emancipation as certain to come in time but said that he believed that it would sooner result from the mild and melting influence of Christianity than from the storm and

Wife Demands Facts About Mysterious Death

LUIS D'ANTIN MRS. LUIS D'ANTIN

The mysterious death of Luis d'Antin, interpreter and clerk of Eliseo Arredondo, the Carranza ambassador designate at Washington, has become the subject of inquiry by Secretary of State Lansing. D'Antin started for Mexico City with Mr. Arredondo, and he died near San Luis Potosi, and was buried there. Some of his friends had warned him not to go into Mexico, "because he knew too much about some Mexican affairs."

LOST AVIATORS BEEN FOUND

For Eight Days Missing Officers Tramped Wilds of Sonora Until Exhausted.

Wellton, Arizona, Jan. 19.—Lieutenant Colonel Harry G. Bishop and Lieutenant W .A. Robertson, the missing aviators, were found yesterday, exhausted from a four days' walk through the wilds of Sonora, Mexico, more than thirty miles south of the border, by civilians.

Lieutenant Robertson was brought back, but Colonel Bishop was too weak and was left with the searchers.

The men had subsisted on two sandwiches and two oranges, each since January 10.

Bishop Was Exhausted.

Robertson was found yesterday by the tracing automobile searching party. He directed the searchers farther south where he said he had left Bishop the day before.

Bishop was exhausted and unable to walk. Just where the aviators landed is uncertain, but it is likely that was about thirty miles south of the border. Robertson said the propellor of their airplane is broken.

FINISHING TOUCHES TO BE MADE TODAY FOR THE AUTO SHOW

The floor plan for the big free automobile show which will be opened at Elser's pier next Monday and continue until the twenty-ninth was given out yesterday by Manager Wright and the spaces alloted to the different exhibitors was assigned for their cars.

All the booths have been railed off and occupy the entire first floor.

Work on the decorations will be started today and they promise to be somewhat out of the ordinary for the automobile men will vie with each other to see which can arrange the most attractive exhibit, and the pier management will also spare no expense in making the pier interesting.

Thousands of electric lights will turn day into night for the evening shows, while an orchestra will play during the afternoon and evening.

Many novel souvenirs will be given away, and there will be numerous demonstrations which will be interesting.

In Spain there has been invented a steel automobile wheel with steel tires which is said to have most of the advantages and none of the disadvantages of the rubber-tired wheel.

Coal in Switzerland now sells at from $15.66 to $18.12 for a metric ton.

LOOKING FOR SUBMERSIBLE

Larger Than the Deutschland to Follow That Vessel to America.

New London, Conn., Jan. 19.—It is learned from unofficial sources that another submersible, said to be larger than the Deutschland, is expected here.

Warehouses of the Eastern Forwarding Company, here, is stored with a cargo of rubber, copper and nickel, waiting the arrival of the Deutschland, whose arrival is expected in advance of the larger vessel.

James L. McGovern, the Bridgeport collector of customs, conferred with the officials of the company, it is understood, regarding the arrangements for the arrival of the vessel.

FORT DALLAS PARK RESIDENTS PETITION FOR IMPROVEMENTS

Residents of Fort Dallas Park say one of the most delightful scenic places for tourists and residents of Miami if some assistance can be obtained from the city.

Last night the Fort Dallas Park Improvement Association met at the home of F. A. P. Jones, the president, it being the second meeting of the organization. Ten members were present.

It was decided to circulate a petition to the city council, to be signed by all property owners in that section asking lights for the entrance and dark corners of the park; to open a driveway from the avenue C entrance through the park to the river front, thence to the Royal Palm grounds and around to the Boulevard, and to install more hydrants for fire protection, there only being one at present.

The petition will be presented to council at an early date.

tempest of fiery controversy. There are many today that believe that Lee was a strong supporter of state rights and secession but history tells us that he loved the union. President Lincoln in 1861 offered Lee the command of the invading army. This he refused and two days later resigned from the United States army. At the time of his resignation he said: "With all my devotion to the union and the feeling of loyalty and duty as an Americtn citizen, I have not been able to make up my mind to raise my hand against my relatives, my children and my home."

"Lee was great as a soldier, he was great as a leader of men and as an educator, but he was equally great as a private citizen, as a husband and a father. I might take my boy by the hand and say I want you to have the genius of Napoleon but not his arrogance or his vice. I might tell him to emulate the untiring energy of any of those great leaders of armies, but I would hesitate before I would hold up any of them as examples for any youth to follow in life and character as well. I might well tell my boy to emulate the example of the illustrious Washington the father of his country in all save his ungovernable temper and profanity. In none could I say follow these great men in all things.

"But my friends I could take my boy by the hand and point to the military genius of Robert E. Lee, to the matchless character of Marse Robert and say: "My son you may safely follow the example of this man in all things,' and know that I have placed before the eyes of my boy a shining example of one of whom no one could truthfully speak ill—I say it reverently—verily a man in whom there was no guile."

Miss McGill's Readings.

Miss Annabelle McGill, who was heard in Miami last winter, made her first public appearance last evening. Miss McGill gave two readings and two altogether delightful pianologues. Her poise and ease of expression are always delightful but the pianologues are particularly happy mediums for her musical voice. "The Naughty Little Clock, Tick Tock" was especially delightful.

Lee's Farewell.

Dr. J. L. White then gave a most impressive study of Lee's farewell to his soldiers and the Confederate soldiers return home. He read the aFrewell address impressively, remarking, in relation to this, "No more heroic army ever wore uniform than the army of northern Virginia and those who wore the blue testify to this. No more noble general ever led an army than Robert E. Lee, the man magnificent in defeat." Dr. White sketched a picture of that last farewell to his troops and concluded with a vivid picture of the home coming of the heroes in gray and said, "The spirit of the south which is the spirit of the Anglo-Saxon race has never been conquered. This spirit has never died, but lived glorious in the recuperation of a down trodden country and a down trodden people. Our heroes came home defeated but not conquered and without hatred in their hearts. It was all brought about through misunderstanding. We are one people and we ever shall be. May the flag of the union ever float over the free and the brave. But let us not forget the past. A land without memories is a land without history and Robert E. Lee leaves a memory of one of the noblest heroes any country has ever seen."

Blue and Gray Tableau.

A tableau, the Blue and the Gray, was then presented in the lighted frame at the back of the stage. Two adorable little soldiers, one wearing the gray and the other the blue, stood at "Present Arms" with their rifles while Miss Columbia bore the flag over their heads. To the piano accompaniment the audience rose and sang America.

Impromptu Feature.

One of the most impressive parts of the evening's memorial to the great Confederate was a part not listed on the program. At the conclusion of Dr. White's talk, Mr. John R. Burtshaw, his tall frame clad in the faded Confederate gray, rose and with a voice resonant with emotion, thanked Dr. White for his story of the farewell to Lee's soldiers. For Mr. Burtshaw himself was an eye witness of that unforgetable scene and was one of those defeated but unconquered men of Lee's army who saw the tears shining on the face of his general as he dismissed them to their homes. And after Mr. Burtshaw had finished the entire audience burst into applause, in spite of the tight feeling in their throats.

At the conclusion of the evening Mrs. R. B. McClendon, president of the Southern Cross chapter, invited the audience to enjoy a social glass of punch with them.

TWO SUITS FOR DIVORCE

Two suits for divorce were entered in the circuit court, yesterday, one alleging desertion and non-support, and the other extreme cruelty on the part of the wife, who is named as the defendant in the action.

Virgie E. Porter seeks a legal separation from Edward C. Porter, who is alleged to have deserted his wife and is now residing in New Haven, Conn. In her bill of complaint Mrs. Porter says she was married to the defendant in Texas in 1901. The couple have two children as a result of this union, a girl, who is with the complainant and a boy who is with the father. Since the separation the husband is said to have failed to contribute to the wife's support.

Charging that she cruelly treated him by attacking him in various ways and at one time attempted to cut his throat and on other occasions used threatening language, Livingston Adderly wants a divorce from Alma Adderly, to whom he was married a little more than a year ago. He also charges a statutory offense. Taylor and Taylor are the attorneys for the complainants in both cases.

Yesterday Taking Advantage of Superlative Conditions of Wind and Weather.

By W. S. Thomas.

Fishing with rod and reel, W. G. Duncan, of Greenville, Ky., landed an amberjack and a thirty-two pound grouper, off the reef, yesterday. The amberjack weighed twenty-eight pounds and was pulled in after making a splendid fight.

Mr. Duncan, who is registered at the Hotel Halcyon, chartered the yacht, Ada M., for a day's sport, yesterday, and in company with Frank Bissell, of Schnectady, N. Y., started out with every intention of making a record catch which they did in so far as rod and reel fishing may be concerned, for they took the two big fish and many kingfish and mackerel on a No 21 line.

The catch was brought into the Elser pier where it attracted much attention. Mr. Duncan spent last season in Miami and caught a large sailfish at the close of the season. Th[illegible] was mounted and taken to his Ke[illegible] tucky home where it has been t[illegible] means of sending a number of Ke[illegible] tuckians to Miami in search of spo[illegible]

The yacht Gypsie Queen, Capta[illegible] Hatch, returned to the Elser pier ye[illegible] terday afternoon, with forty-six kin[illegible] fish, two amberjack and other speci[illegible] including some grouper.

In the party of anglers were [illegible] W. N. De Armond and E .A. Dra[illegible] of Fort Collins, Colorado and C. [illegible] Liken, of Sebewaing, Mich., who [illegible] here for the season.

When the fish were brought to t[illegible] pier they were strung up for a pho[illegible] graph which will be sent to t[illegible] friends of the party in the north a[illegible] west.

Dr. De Armond procurred a bar[illegible] and after dressing the fish, secure[illegible] packed them in ice and had them sh[illegible] ped to his Colorado home. He sa[illegible] that saltwater fish, from the Atlant[illegible] were a luxury out that way and [illegible] was going to give some of his frie[illegible] a real treat.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Rogers, [illegible] Brookline, Mass., who are here [illegible] the season, landed an eleven-foot ha[illegible] merhead shark, while fishing from t[illegible] charterboat, Ace, Captain Land, y[illegible] terday. The shark was brought to t[illegible] Elser pier and exhibited to the se[illegible] eral hundred people who congregat[illegible] there to see the catches brought in.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eichelberg[illegible] and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Foreste[illegible] prominent Cleveland people, will leave today for a ten day's fishing cruise on board Captain James Thompson's boat, Yuma. The party will fish among the keys and may possibly go as far as Shark river where many tarpon are said to have been taken recently.

Captain Thompson is an experienced guide and has promised his anglers a big catch, consisting of many specimens of deep sea fish. He said, last night, that he will be prepared for an encounter with sawfish as well as whiprays and proposes to bring back a big catch of these as well as tarpon and other game fish.

The yacht, Yuma, was stocked up with supplies, yesterday, and the party is expected to board the vessel this morning.

The charter boat, Huntress, returned to Elser pier, late yesterday afternoon with nineteen kingfish taken in two hours time.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. King, of New York, regular season's guests at the Royal Poinciana, Palm Beach, are visiting Miami and the keys on board the yacht, Stranger. They will spend several days after amberjack and other big fish. Mr. and Mrs. King, who are accompanied by a party of friends came down from Palm Beach in Mr. King's speed boat, Skipalong. The speedboat was left here until the party's return when they will return to Palm Beach in it.

The yacht, Freelance, which is owned by Alfred C. Thompson, of Baltimore, has arrived in the bay with Mr. and Mrs. Thompson on board. The latter have as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. George W. York, of Raleigh, N. C., who will enjoy a fishing cruise [illegible] the ro- [illegible] ea- [illegible] ng [illegible] the [illegible] will [illegible] on [illegible] rs. [illegible] O., [illegible] rill, [illegible] of [illegible] on [illegible] cht [illegible] ent [illegible] a [illegible] ol- [illegible] ser [illegible] to [illegible] is [illegible] of [illegible] or [illegible] r- [illegible] me [illegible] ed [illegible] is [illegible] ht [illegible] et, [illegible] or- [illegible] ar- [illegible] in, [illegible] rn- [illegible] ng at the Field apartments, on Seventh street for the season, went to the Everglades for a try at fresh water fishing, yesterday, but report little doing there.

Colonel E. A. Waddell and a party of friends, went out on the charterboat Victoria, Captain Piner, from the Elser pier yesterday, and returned with fourteen large kingfish and a large grouper.

Fishing from his yacht, Audira, yesterday, J. K. Williams, of Akron, O., T. R. Washburn of Norwalk and Milan, O., F. A. Kelly of Milan, Mr. Carpenter of Akron and Mr. Anderson of New York landed a tenfoot shovel nose shark which was brought into the Royal Palm dock where it attracted much attention.

The catch was made on the reef and required considerable time to bring it up to the yacht where it was secured. When brought to the Royal Palm dock a photograph of the catch was made and this will be forwarded to Mr. Williams friends in the north. Along with the shark were a number of other fish.

Another yacht, the Ocoee, belonging to R. P. Stevens, of New York, has arrived at Palm Beach for the season and may be expected in the bay later on in the month. The vessel was brought down from New York through the canal.

After a pleasant cruise on the bay and among the keys, the yacht, Barota, belonging to Mr. Frieta, has returned to Palm Beach where Mr. and Mrs. Frieta and their friends are spending the season.

Captain J. D. Meyers, owner of the cruising yacht, Traveler, which is here for the season, has received his new eighteen foot reef boat which was built at the shipyards of the S. H. Jones Company, on the southside of the Miami river.

The boat will be used in connection with the yacht Traveler, which will do considerable cruising in south Florida waters, this season. The vessel is equipped with a new engine and will be a ble to make considerable speed.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Bright and daughter, Miss Florence L. Bright, of Indianapolis, Ind., who are here for the season, expect to visit the fishing banks quite frequently this winter. Mr. Bright can be frequently seen on the Elser pier where the big fish have attracted his attention and admiration and he preposes to go after them as in former years.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Daily and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Austermiller, of Terre Haute, Ind., have made frequent trips to the fishing banks and expect to make another trip next week.

Delightful Supper and Dancing Party Given by Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Hanan

Without a doubt the supper and dance given at the Halcyon hotel last night by Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Hanan, surpassed anything of the kind ever held in Miami, in a social way.

Covers were laid for forty in the spacious card room on the first floor of the hotel, but the room had been transformed into a supper room and dance floor, while the wide verandas were screened off for the guests to enjoy the cool night air in seclusion.

Music for the dancing was furnished by the Halcyon hotel orchestra under the direction of C. Edward White. The orchestra was partially concealed behind a great bower of tropical palms and plants.

The large table was laid in the north end of the room and was decorated in pink and white, roses being most artistically used for the main scheme, which was a really artistic conception, for to describe its beauty would be impossible here, and to properly appreciate the simple, yet magnificant picture it made, surrounded by the ladies and gentlemen, it had to be seen.

Supper was served at eleven o'clock; favors in pink and white hats with bells and balloons, were at each table. The balloons of all colors narmonizing nicely with the other decorations and making a very novel effect as they floated in the air.

Those who attended as Mr. and Mrs. Hanan's guests were: Mr. W. H. Cooms, Mr. Tom Koons, Mr. Paul Chalfin, Mr. Louis Koons, Mr. Roger Jannus, Mr. E. G. Bailey, Mr. E. H. Holterman, Mr. Edward Haynes, Mr. Stephen Webster, Mr. Carl Fisher, Mr. Fred Vanderpool, Mr. E. G. Sewell, Mr. Joseph Miller, Mr. James Gilman Mr. Paine 3rd, Mr. Thomas Atkisson, Mr. John H. Havlin, Mr. Marrow, Judge John C. Gramling, Miss Mildred Hanan, Mrs. E. G. Sewell, Mrs. James Gilman, Mrs. John C. Gramling, Mrs. William Coombs, Mrs. Thomas Koons, Mrs. William Draper, Mrs. E. G. Bailey, Miss Jane Tatum, Mrs. Carl Fisher, Miss Bishop, Miss Lewis, Mrs. Paine 3rd, Miss Mary Miller, Mrs. Kilgour Miller, Mrs. John Hanan.

MYSTERIOUS SOCIAL

Of course it was originally the heathen Chinee whose ways, according to the poet, were dark and peculiar, but the heathen in his blindness was not darker and more mysterious than the Junior Epworth League of the White Temple last evening at their social on the roof garden.

Stereopticon pictures and all sorts of guessing contests, in which the members were most of the time quite "i nthe dark" made the evening hil- "in the dark" made the evening hil-

But the refreshments were also a mystery and to cap the climax, even Mr. Merrill didn't quite know who was there, so that at any rate the "mysterious social" quite lived up to its name.

DR. PETERSON'S HOUSE ROBBED

During His Absence Somebody Removed Furniture and It Cannot Be Located.

When Dr. Johan Petersen and his family went to their home, northwest of the city, yesterday, after Dr. and Mrs. Petersen returned from Chicago, where the former was vindicated of the charges lodged against him by a Chicago lawyer, they found their house totally stripped of all of the contents and the place occupied by another person.

Dr. Petersen was unable last night, to obtain any clue as to the whereabouts of the furniture which included a valuable set of books on scientific chemistry which he prizes very highly. Detectives have been engaged and an effort will be made to locate the goods, and the identity of the person who removed them.

The only thing left in the house, according to Dr. Petersen was an iron bedstead. Included among the goods taken was the furniture, rugs, dishes, silverware and other things which were locked up in the place, while Mrs. Petersen went to Chicago to be with her husband during his trouble.

The house in which the Petersens resided was leased by them about nine months ago for a term of three years. Dr. Petersen said last night that he would institute proceedings in the justice of the peace court today against the occupant of the place.

"I have returned to Miami with the determination of showing the people of my honest intentions," said Dr. Petersen. "I will enter business here because I want to show those who have placed confidence in my honesty and integrity, that they have not been mistaken in their man. I believe that I have shown already that the charges against me were absolutely groundless and before I am through, you can depend upon it that the public will know the true conditions.

"I shall always believe that Miami has a glorious future and it will be my ambition to demonstrate to the people of Dade county this fact by showing just what can be done here."

Dr. Petersen spoke of his deep appreciation for the many kindnesses that had been extended him and his family by a few people during their trouble and mentioned the names of Captain Thomas Lyons and F. Blair of Lemon City; Samuel Fisher of Little River and Carl Schultz of Miami as being among those who have aided him and his wife and two children. "I appreciate what these people have done for me and will some day be able to repay them for their kindness and sympathy."

SACRED CONCERT AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH TOMORROW EVENING

Mendelssohn's exquisite motet, "Hear Our Prayer" will be the feature of the musical service to be given by the choir of the First Presbyterian church, assisted by Mrs. George C. Bolles, next Sunday night. This service takes the place of the usual evening exercises.

Under the direction of L. D. Gates, the choir is working this difficult motet up to the high standard which the organization has set for itself. Mrs. S. C. Wallace will carry the solo and obligato parts. The composition is in two parts, the latter being the familiar "Oh, That I Had Wings Like a Dove," which is always a favorite with those familiar with sacred music.

Mrs. Bolles will sing a brilliant solo, "Adore and Be Still," by Gounod, and will also take the soprano part in the beautiful number from The Holy City, "List, The Cherubic Host." Mr. Sharman will sing the baritone solo in this selection, and will give as a solo number, "O God Have Mercy," from Mendelssohn's "St. Paul."

There will be given two anthems by the choir and these with a male quartet number and the organ selections will round out the program which is expected to be more than usually pleasing.

BOY IS RUN DOWN; PAINFULLY INJURED

Bernard Bridges, the eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Bridges of Highland Park, was struck by an automobile at Twelfth street and the F. E. C. railroad tracks yesterday afternoon and severely hurt, although his injuries are not of a serious nature.

The automobile is said to be a grocery truck, but who the owner is could not be learned. The driver was a boy who is described as being about twelve or fourteen years old.

After the accident the driver of the machine picked up young Bridges and, apparently recognizing him, drove his car to within two blocks of the Bridges home where he put him out.

Bernard's condition was such that he had trouble in finding his house, which he reached some time later in a dazed condition.

Dr. Babcock was consulted and after an hour or so the boy became normal, but was unable to tell much about the accident or who the driver his arms and legs were severely bruised.

He had a bad cut over the eye and of the automobile was.

An effort is being made by the police to locate the driver of the car, for they have a description of him which was given by an eye witness to the accident.

Mr. Bridges declared last night that if the chauffeur is located he will prosecute him under the law prohibiting the driving of an automobile by anyone under eighteen years of age, and for reckless driving, for it is said the car was going at a rapid rate of speed when Bernard was knocked down and run over.

Daily attendance at the concerts given morning, afternoon and night by the Royal Scotch Highlanders, indicate that the residents of Miami and the visitors now within the city are well pleased with the music being given by this excellent band.

The Royal Scotch Highlanders should not be confused with another musical organization in the United States wearing the Scotch highland uniform, for the latter band is said to be by no means the equal of the band now in Miami. The latter is the one and only musical aggregation entitled to the name, Royal Scotch Highlanders.

Every arrangement possible is being made by the Chamber of Commerce to insure that persons desiring to enjoy the music may do so in comfortable seats. It was found the first night the band played that not nearly enough seats were provided. Immediately others were ordered made, and now seats for twelve hundred persons are assured.

Plans are being made whereby the band will play every Friday night at the Carl G. Fisher casino, instead of in Royal Palm park.

THE MOORE HAVEN TIMES EQUIPMENT IS INSTALLED COMPLETE

That hustling city up on Lake Okeechobee is indeed proud of its latest acquisition, the city paper, which is known as the Moore Haven Times, and this worthy publication will now take its place as one of the enterprising papers of the state.

It is a credit to Moore Haven to have a newspaper with a fully equipped job department in connection, and is but another evidence of the progress that is to be seen there.

Moore Haven has in the first year of its history made rapid strides, and to the new comer, it is a matter of great interest to go there and see so many different evidences of genuine progress, where a year ago it was a wilderness.

The Moore Haven people are looking forward with great interest to the first edition of their paper, and now that all the equipment has been installed it is but a matter of a few days until the paper will be published.

With its three hotels, restaurant, various stores, laundry, electric light plant, ice plant in the near future, and its newspaper, Moore Haven is already a metropolitan city, and all who go there to see a year old town, come back and state that what they saw of progress is far in advance of what they had dreamed would be possible, for progress is the word at Moore Haven, and progress that knows no limit judging by what has been accomplished already, and by the enthusiastic optomism that exists there among its people.

LIVING MODELS ATTRACT CROWDS TO STORE

A demonstration in the show windows of the New York Department Store, avenue D Thursday afternoon and evening and Friday afternoon and evening attracted much attention and favorable comment from the many hundreds of persons who saw it.

The large window was attractively arranged by O. Harms, the store's display manager. Within it Miss Florence Mae, "the mechanical doll" cleverly demonstrated various articles of wearing apparel, and Miss Florence Myers, a model, showed how attractive bathing suits and sport attire can be made to appear.

Mr. Harms draped dress goods around Miss Myers, creating dresses on the living model.

The demonstration will come to an end this evening. The afternoon display will be made at from four to six and the evening display from seven to nine o'clock.

A FALSE ALARM.

With the use of many tragic adjectives, a paper published over on the west side of the state, asks the following question, or rather makes the following rather broad assertion:

> When will the newspapers of America awaken to the fact that a great conspiracy exists to create in this country a despotic military machine, which in its gigantic proportions will dwarf into insignificance all previously existing military despotisms of Europe? This conspiracy is being promoted by the armor plate combine, the food trust, the powder trust, the munitions and armament corporations, and other commercial cormorants who are waxing sleek and fat from a despoiled civilization and the bloody battlefields of Europe.

All this is connected with another statement which asserts that the United States is to be the next victim of the "war plunderbund," and it sets out for its proof the preparedness program of the administration and of congress, attempts to abolish the state militia, the universal military training proposition, now before congress, and the attacks on the freedom of the press. The last is in reference to the punishment meted out to an officer of a Florida regiment who was also a correspondent of a state paper, and who was punished, or will be punished, for violation of the articles of war in some of his correspondence.

Probably the reason the newspapers of this country do not awaken to the dangers as set forth in the quotation is that there are no such dangers.

If there is one thing that can hardly be controverted it is that previous to two years and a half ago this country was set against any and all increases in army and navy expenditures. They were regarded as entirely unnecessary and useless. There was not the slightest sentiment for a larger standing army, outside of professional army and navy circles. Possibly, there was an armor plate combine, possibly there was a food trust, a powder trust and we know of a certainty, that there were manufacturers of munitions and armament, but up to three years ago, if they were trying it, they had not succeeded in arousing any military spirit and sentiment for militarism, whatever else they might have accomplished.

What did occur and what did arouse the people of this country to make demands for an increased army and navy and for military training was something that occurred entirely outside of this country, and with which the combinations referred to had nothing more to do than they had with the procession of the stars.

A continental war, exceeding in proportions anything that had ever occurred before, involving more separate nations and involving more men, suddenly broke out in Europe, although this country and others had said there never would again be a great war.

This country was suddenly brought face to face with the fact that war cannot be prevented. It suddenly realized that if the conflict in Europe widened out, we might be drawn, in spite of ourselves, into the dreadful maelstrom. It suddenly realized that, outside of China, no nation was so illy prepared to meet an emergency of the kind as we were and are. And as the months went by, there came the further realization that, any day, the accident or the incident might happen that would draw us into war.

Right then and there came the demand, not from the munition makers, not from food speculators, but from the people, that this country be adequately protected as far as possible from the evils of war, whose horrors we are for the first time fully realizing.

It is all nonsense to say that this demand has been created by interested corporations or influences, outside of the people themselves. Congress the president, all the administrative officers see the dangers very clearly and they are doing what they can to forestall and prevent them, and they are not responding in any way to the supposed machinations of any interests that profit by war. To give credence to that idea is to impugn the motives, the honesty, the patriotism, and the good sense of every man connected with the government. It is to discredit the intelligence and the honesty of the people, themselves.

It is not the equipment manufacturers who are demanding universal training and service, but the people who have seen the danger and who have also seen what a few months of experience have done for the troops sent to the border. It is not the armor combination that is calling for an increased navy, for they have thrown up their hands and say that they cannot compete with the government in the making of plate and the building of ships. It is not the army and navy authorities who are attempting to suppress the freedom of the press, but the superficial thinkers and sham reformers among the people who are gradually depriving the people of the right to live their lives as they desire to live, under the law.

Even with the greatest speed in demobilization, we can hardly expect the United States government to get the Tampa troops back home in time for the Gasparilla carnival.

BIDDING FOR ACCIDENTS.

A story is told in this morning's Herald of an automobile accident, which again calls attention to the frequent violations of law in permitting young people under eighteen years of age to drive machines on the roads of the state, which includes streets of the city, by the way.

It is said that a young boy, driving some sort of a truck, has been permitted by parents or employers, continually, to drive around the streets of Miami. Yesterday he ran down a small boy, but very fortunately not inflicting serious damage, at least up to this writing nothing serious has developed.

If this were the only instance it might not call for remark in the public press, but it is a common sight to see very young boys and girls in sole charge of machines and driving them through the crowded thoroughfares. Sometimes they are accompanied by older persons, but very frequently they are alone or with companions even younger than themselves.

There is a law, musty from long disuse, that prohibits anyone under the age of eighteen years from operating an automobile on the streets and roads of the state, and yet in Miami that law is violated dozens of times a day, without the slightest attention being paid to it by those in authority.

If the accident reported this morning does not arouse public sentiment on the matter, we are quite certain [illegible] a more serious one, which may involve the loss of one or more lives, and then there will be plenty of public opinion expressed as to the iniquity of permitting children to run automobiles on the streets. Then arrests will be called for and people will wonder why the authorities have not done something to prevent what everyone will know was a foregone and assured accident.

FLORIDA THIRTY-SEVENTH.

While the crops of the United States for the year 1916 did not measure up in bushels and pounds as much as the year 1915, yet owing to the rise in prices, 1916 was the banner year of the country in values of crops, which in round numbers amounted to nine billion dollars.

It is interesting to note that Florida changed from thirty-eighth place in rank among the states for value of production in 1915, to thirty-seventh place in 1916. For that year, the state's crops were worth $60,495,000, as against $43,122,000 for the year 1915.

Florida changed places with Massachusetts, which in the year 1915 occupied the thirty-seventh place, while Florida had the thirty-eighth. This year the figures are changed and Florida goes ahead of the Bay State.

Texas retains her place at the head of the list, with a production of nearly seven hundred million dollars worth of crops. Illinois, which in 1915, occupied second place, exchanges position with Iowa, which is now second, with a production of over five hundred million.

Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, West Virginia, Louisiana, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas and Nevada lost positions in the rank of the states in production, while all the other states either kept their standing or made advances toward the head of the list.

The states that in 1916 outranked Florida are: Texas, Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, Georgia, Kansas, Pennsylvania, New York, Indiana, Ohio, North Carolina, California, Minnesota, Missouri, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Michigan, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, South Carolina, Mississippi, South Dakota, Louisiana, North Dakota, Alabama, Washington, Montana, Colorado, Oregon, Maine, West Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey and Idaho, which number from one to thirty-six in the order named, and Florida as the thirty-seventh.

PUT AN END TO THE NUISANCE.

"I wonder," said a disturbed winter visitor, as she tried to listen to the delightful strains of music at Royal Palm park last night, "if the parents of Miami would like to be judged by the conduct of many of the boys who are making it so unpleasant for music-lovers here tonight."

The rebuke was delivered in a very gentle voice and without impatience, but nevertheless it was a stinging rebuke to some Miami parents, not all of them.

Attracted by the excitement incident to a large crowd, there are a number of young boys, evidently from good homes, who thoughtlessly make the vicinity of the band stand in the park their play ground while the concerts, which people are enjoying so highly, are going on.

They are exceedingly annoying to listeners and to musicians and they mar what would otherwise be an enjoyable evening for thousands.

It is mere boyishness and thoughtlessness, but as a matter of fact, the people of Miami did not subscribe a large amount of money to bring the band here to furnish a crowd of thoughtless boys an opportunity to have an unusual play time. If they are not sufficiently interested in the music they should be restrained from preventing those who do enjoy it from hearing the delightful programs presented.

If parents will not see to it that their boys are not taught better, a short, sharp lesson through the police authorities will work wonders, will teach these youngsters their proper place in the scheme of things and will make it possible for thousands of music lovers to enjoy these splendid open-air concerts.

Responding to the appeal of The Herald for a small amount to supply a Belgian soldier with a trifle in the way of smoking tobacco, one good fellow came in and said that while he did not smoke, himself, and hardly approved of it, if he could do a brave soldier a favor by sending him a package of tobacco he was glad to lend his aid. That's the spirit!

Just a suggestion to those who attend the delightful band concert given at Royal Palm park. When the band at the close of the program, begins the national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner," loyalty and courtesy demand that the hearers rise in respectful attention. Courtesy demands that each one remain in his place until the anthem is finished, and not to begin a movement to leave the grounds while the band is playing.

Perhaps it is well to call attention to the fact that Dade county has had a speedy murder case with a decision reached without the usual painful delays incident to such unfortunate affairs, and thereby respect for the law and the courts is strengthened.

OBSERVATIONS

Police court returns show that Miami is a place "where every prospect pleases," and very few men are vile.

Somebody has remarked that the only thing great in the state administration is the great seal of the state.

And now they have discovered a plot to blow up Herman Johnson. Well, didn't he blow up a former judge of the supmere court, in November?

And to complicate matters still further some of the prices quoted by the experts who are telling us how to live better for less money do not come anywhere near agreeing with those of the corner grocer.

One beautiful result of the supreme court decision on the Mann act is that Jack Johnson will be in no hurry to come home.

What's the use of that leak committee hiring a lawyer? Why don't they get a regular plumber?

Who Says There Are No Miracles!

The president is witnessing the phenomenon of women willing to be silent in an effort to get the vote. And under any circumstances, or for any cause, that physical fact is impressive.—Baltimore American.

PERSONAL NOTES

S. G. Morley, a representative of the Carnegie institution of Washington, some time ago discovered in Uaxactum, a newly discovered city of northern Guatemala, a monument which dates from about 50 A. D.

Alexander Just, of Budapest, recently perfected an invention which it is said will greatly simplify the manufacture of tungsten lamps. He found that a small quantity of boron or boron nitrate added to fused metallic tungsten increases its malleability materially.

The year 1916 saw the passing of David H. King, Jr., pioneer builder of tall buildings in this country. As far back in 1882 he assembled for Darius O. Mills, the nine-story Mills building, on Broad and Wall streets, and Exchange place, New York city. It was built of granite, brick and stone. The steel cage system, which made possible the real skyscraper, was first used in Chicago by Holabird & Roche, who erected the Home insurance building, and introduced in New York city a year later by Bradford Lee Gilbert, who erected an eleven-story building at 50 Broadway, now part of the site of the Standard Oil Company's Arcade building.

SMILES

Ethel—I'll back out and let you marry the wretch.

Marie—Why do you do that?

Ethel—He proposed to both of us and I want to see him punished.

A schoolmistress asked her class to explain the word "bachelor" and was very much amused when a little girl answered:

"A bachelor is a very happy man."

"Where did you learn that?" asked the mistress.

"Father told me," the little girl replied.

"Do you think you can keep my daughter in the style to which she has been accustomed?"

"I believe so."

"She has most expensive tastes."

"I understand that, and yet I feel that I could make her happy."

"She always selects the costliest hats and dresses."

"I shall be pleased to pay her consumers' bills."

"She has always insisted on the newest model of motor car."

"Yes, sir."

"And you still feel that you can afford to marry her?"

"I do."

"Then perhaps I had better warn you that she is accustomed to meat twice a day."

"You win," stammered the young man. "I can't call that last bluff."

NATIONAL PRESS

Philadelphia Record.

Congress may have intended only to penalize commercialized vice when it passed the Mann law against "white slavery!" but the legislators forgot to put words of limitation into the act which would show what was their purpose. What is said in committee reports and public debates on the subject doesn't count if there is no ambiguity in a statute, such as would require a court to go behind the returns, so to speak, for an explanation of its meaning. The supreme court finds in the Mann law a clear prohibition of the transportation of women from one state to another for immoral purposes, whether or not the guilty person did so with the expectation of gain. Congress having complete authority over interstate transportation of passengers, the enactment was a proper exercise of legislative powers. If this sweeping interpretation of the law opens the door of blackmail, recourse must be had to congress. The courts cannot amend the law.

STATE PRESS

Key West Citizen.

A news item in a paper does not means that the paper tihnks the policy adopted by the parties in the news item is the correct policy. Some guy read in the Miami Herald where in regard to the enforcement of the medical practice law of the state of California it was contended that the law gives Christian Science a monopoly in prayer practice and took offense at the Herald. Now the statement was probably the truth as far as the statement of the case in question and the man should have let his angry passion wear themselves out upon the ones who raised the contention and not upon the Herald as that paper sagely observes. It is unhappily the fact however that there are parties who allow themselves to get sore with a newspaper because it publishes the facts that occur. This is the business of a paper and if the paper fails in that object it is unworthy of the name. A person who shows anger at facts published in a paper is simply ignorant. They are more to be pitied than censured.

MISCHA ELMAN

Mischa Elman, famous violinist, and the most adulated "infant prodigy" of the last two decades, is 26 years old today.

Mr. Elman became famous at the age of five, when he first appeared in public, and has pursued since a career of phenonenal success, during which he has been the darling of two continents.

He was born in Russia, of Jewish parentage, and studied under Russian masters.

In 1904, at the age of 13, he was greeted as a great artist in Petrograd, and soon after began a triumphal tour of the capitals of Europe.

He appeared in America for the first time in 1908 and met with immense success with the American public.

Since then he has regularly toured America every year, and his career has been watched with unabated interest by the American public which has seen him grow up from an awkward lad into the mature and finished artist.

ROYAL PALM WATER SPORTS

A Pleasing Success---Is Witnessed by Record Attendance---Next Friday.

The first water sports of the 1917 season at the Royal Palm casino, held last night, were witnessed by the largest number of persons ever attending the first program of any season, and from exclamations overheard as the spectators left the building, they were well pleased with the various events that had been arranged for their entertainment.

First upon the program was that ever popular and always laughable event, walking the greasy pole, in which Ransom Furr carried off the honors. Fast on the heels of the greasy pole event came a battle upon the same pole by Ike Polin and Louis Moore, who fought to a draw with bladders.

Manager McClure's exhibition of undressing under water, the under water swim by Alexander Ott, Willis Cooling and G. A. Worley in the horse marines, Jack Grieve and his pipes, the pajama race for boys, G. A. Worley's illuminated porpoise swim, fancy diving by Tommie Lummus, John Wofford and Sonnie Brown all made a hit.

Wallace Culbertson and William McAllister, two accomplished divers and swimmers, gave an interesting exhibition of high and fancy diving that was in a class to itself. Their dives included the half twist, one and a half gainer, complete gainer, one and a half from the back jack, one and a half back twist, all done from various heights including the top of the tower.

A fifty yard dash for midgets was won by Tommie Lummus, and a relay race by older boys was won by the team captained by Harold Ross, the captain coming down the home stretch with a beautiful crawl that excited much favorable comment. The other members of his team were Reginald Ross, Wallace Reilly and Walter Ring. Their opponents were Crozier Sewell, Duncan Brossier, Tex Scott and Bob Hammons.

John Hourihan was winner of the pajama race and Wallace Reilly finished second.

G. A. Worley, Jr., holder of the tank record of 24 3-5 seconds attempted to lower it. He did the distance in 24 4-5 seconds.

Another program will be staged next Friday night.

A delightful musical program was rendered by the Royal Palm orchestra, under the direction of Gaetano Mercadante.

BASKETBALL ENTHUSIASM

At White Heat Because of Big Game Tonight---Miami Won First Game.

All the girls and all the boys of the high schools and many from the grammar grades, and their aunts and uncles and their parents, besides many other interested basketball fans will be on hand early tonight at the old Prout building on Eleventh street before the good seats are all gone—for there will be something doing that will make the roof ring with the shouts of enthusiasts urging their favorites on to greater endeavor.

The undefeated Miami high school goes up against the visiting Daytona five, and the Herald's dope artist figures there will be a close and hard fought contest between these teams, that will prove entirely different from last night's engagement, for yesterday the Daytona players were tired from their automobile drive down the coast and couldn't get together when the Seminoles hit them.

Daytona high school won from St. Augustine twice, and twice from the Daytona town team, once from the Seabreeze five, lost to Palatka high, trimmed Titusville, 48 to 8 Tuesday night of this week, romped on Cocoa, 100 to 1, the following evening, defeated Ft. Lauderdale, 41 to 26, Thursday night, and was slaughtered by the Seminoles, 34 to 74, last night.

Bill Sullivan, captain of the visiting quintet, has put in three years as one of Daytona's stellar players, Green, another forward, has been in the harness three years also; Branch, the center, four years; Snyder, a guard, one year; Stewart, a guard, one year; and Owen Sullisan, substitute, two years. Tournquist, the coach, played four years on the Stetson university five and was a member of the aggregation winning the state championship.

Figuring that the Seminoles walked away with Daytona last night and the Miami high held the same riproaring Seminoles to a 36-26 score; that Daytona trimmed Lauderdale high 41 to 26, while Miami high put it over Lauderdale to the tune of 44 to 2, why—oh, what's the use—Daytona has a cracking good team with three six-foot (plus) giants and a lad playing center that can not only tap the ball when and where he pleases, but finds time to score more than half the team's points.

Shull has made light work of all his touted opponents so far though, and, while a bit under the weather from grippe, will add his usual powerful offensive to the team with the blue and white jerseys.

The guards—well, Daytona hasn't any—and that is where Miami high is strong, so that, not only may the spectators count on the largest, loudest, noisiest rooting crowd at this the last home school game of the season, but they can count on good basketball with two officials known to be worthy of the name in charge.

Seminoles Won Easily.

The visiting Daytona basketball team fared badly at the hands of the Miami Seminoles last night when the two teams clashed at the Seminole Athletic association gymnasium in the first of the two games the Daytona five scheduled to play in Miami. The other contest ocesm tonight when Daytona and Miami high school meet for the championship of the east coast.

The Seminoles had their opponents at their mercy and scored at will, finishing the first half with 41 to their credit, against the Daytona team's 15, and amassing 74 to Daytona's 34 at the final count.

Branch, the long, tall center for the visitors, accounted for eighteen of their scores. He had the jump on Carlin, the Seminoles' center every time Referee Hemenway tossed the ball into the air at center.

Davidson, Davies and Mulloy excelled for the home team and Branch and Green for the visitors. Davidson caged eleven baskets, Davies ten and Mulloy eight, Carlin three, Putnam two, Mowatt one, and Reimert one.

For the Daytona team Branch scored nine, Green four, Sullivan one and Stewart one.

Mulloy landed two out of four fouls in the net and Green four out of six.

TALKED CITRUS FRUITS.

At the meeting of the Florida Citrus Exchange in Jacksonville Wednesday there was discussion of ways and means for increasing the demand for Florida oranges and grapefruit. The only members absent were Dr. W. C. Richardson of Tampa and W. T. Carter of Miami.

General Sales Manager Skelly, in a report, strongly emphasized the importance of even more aggressive work in broadening the market for Exchange fruit. He instanced the degree to which plans inaugurated by the Florida Exchange had been adopted and carried out on a more extensive scale and with great success by the California growers organization. The needs and responsibilities of the situation confronting Florida fruit producers were quite fully gone into by the general sales expansion of the advertising campaign and more efficient means of following up this.

There were a number of other addresses along the same line.

GLADE OWNERS ASK JUSTICE

Vance W. Helm Gives Out Statement as to Position of Complainants in Suit.

Referring to the news dispatch circulated by certain members of the Internal Improvement Board of Tallahassee commenting on the suit filed in the United States District court several days ago that a receivor be appointed to take over the Everglades land and drainage matters, V. W. Helm, president of the Everglades Drainage and Development League gave out the following statement last night:

"Twenty thousand Everglades land owners are vitally interested in the outcome of this suit. These people have invested approximately seven million dollars in the 'Glades on the strength of the state's promises regarding drainage.

"The delay which has occurred owing to the mismanagement of the enterprise by the state officials and the diversion of the trust lands to other purposes than drainage, has caused these purchasers to suffer great loss. They are now asking for simple justice and want their rights settled by an impartial court. These people expect a square deal or they will abandon their lands.

"This is a national movement, not promoted by selfish interests. The state officials must satisfactorily answer for their violation of the contract existing between the state of Florida and the United States regarding the drainage of these lands. Merely calling bad names or impugning the motives of these innocent purchasers will not atone for their wrongful acts as plainly set forth in the suit, nor will their 'newspaper defense' along these lines be accepted at face value by the public generally.

"Let the state officials answer with plain facts only."

Mounted in a torpedo-shaped shell, special generators are now being constructed for wireless telephone apparatus carried on air craft.

TALKS MIAMI AS A FUTURE GREAT CITY

R. T. Daniel, Large Property owner, Brings a Great Fund of Enthusiasm.

GROWS TO GREAT CITY

Confidence of Capital an Indication That Assures Rapid Development.

After an absence of nearly a year R. T. Daniel, owner of the Seminole hotel building, the Real Estate building and other Miami property, has returned to Miami for rest and recuperation, and expects to remain throughout the greater part of the winter.

Mr. Daniel is a man of large affairs and has made a success of his undertakings in various cities of the west and south, having large investments in Oklahoma, Oregon, California and elsewhere, none of which, however, he deems more profitable than his holdings here.

During his many visits to Miami Mr. Daniel has always shown a keen interest in the city's future and invariably prophesied that Miami will soon become one of the principal cities of the south, even at a time when that future seemed less bright to others. He also has the utmost confidence in the ultimate reclamation of the Everglades and the adpatability of that vast body of land to farming and cattle and hog raising.

— Kept Up With the City.

When seen at his hotel yesterday, he showed a thorough knowledge of the strides the city has made during his absence, due to the fact that he subscribes regularly to the Herald and reads its columns daily. He showed no surprise when told that two million dollars worth of buildings were erected in this city last year.

Confidence in Miami's future has become general, he said, because, "it has passed from the minds of the people of the nation that Miami is a village. They know it is a city now, grown to a point where it interests large capital.

"Capital," he added, "is most timid, and it is difficult to gain its confidence, as a man of wealth fears nothing so much as mistakes of investment."

Mr. Daniel declared that up to six months ago the majority of capitalists looked on Miami as a village, and rightly should, as the city had not accomplished much out of the ordinary at that time. But, "Ah, how different today! In spite of all the obstacles placed in the way, she has forged ahead.

"First came Jacksonville, the gateway to the state, which for several years has thought that Miami would take the lead and in many ways Jacksonville has worked to hold back Miami's growth, and Tampa too has feared the new city on the southeastern tip of the state. Tampa was a much larger city than Miami, due to her cigar manufacturing enterprises.

In Great City Class.

"But at last the public at large are making their own comparisons and doing their own thinking, and the proof of this conclusion lies in the fact that Miami has passed beyond that critical point of village in the minds of investors to that of the great city to be built here on this site."

Miami today is the only city in Florida that is attracting capital, Mr. Daniel added, as shown by the fact that its six banks are building with money deposited from all parts of the country for investments in Miami, and every day these deposits are being swelled.

"I am told," Mr. Daniel asserted, "by those who have the figures, that adjacent to and in Miami during the past twelve months there have been some ten million dollars invested, publicly and privately. The stranger within your gates has only to look and behold the buildings erected and under way from one to ten stories high to be convinced."

Mr. Daniel reminded the reporter for the Herald that over a year ago he made the statement through the columns of this paper that within ten years the Everglades would "have so completely come into their own that this great body of land will have become the backbone of your country and back up a city of 150,000 people.

Gain in Confidence.

"Even a year ago," he continued, "that remark looked out of place and far fetched, but the last twelve months brought us nearer the 150,000 mark than the five previous years. Not that we gained five times the population or five times the capital, but at least ten times the confidence, and after all it is confidence that builds cities and inspires capital to invest.

"At present I am living in Los Angeles. Last evening I received a letter from my wife, who writes that she spent ten dollars repairing the grate, twelve dollars more for a ton of coal and had two gas stoves set up, and rain had been more or less continuous for seven weeks. There is no comparison in winter climate of Los Angeles and Miami.

Miami Greater than Ever.

"Like thousands of others who have come to Miami and experienced the climate I feel that as the evening of life draws near and the shadows gather around me, I will have to fall in line with my family, and during the winter season at least remain in Miami.

"I have remarked at different times that Miami offers more inducements for men of capital who are retiring to pass the closing years of their lives here than does any other part of the United States.

"Miami now has more tourists than ever and more accommodations for them, and the accommodations are equal to the increase."

Seats for Bishop Quayle's lecture Tuesday are being reserved at Biscayne Pharmacy now.

RICH PRIZES AT 1917 FAIR

Three Thousand Dollars Already Subscribed for Dade County Fair Winners in March.

The financial arrangements in connection with the Dade County Fair, which will take place at the fair building, at the foot of Twelfth street, during the latter part of February, and the early part of March, are being gotten in shape by the Dade County Fair Association, and the indications are that the coming exhibit will be the finest that has ever been held in the entire south.

According to J. I. Wilson, treasurer of the association, there will be at least $3,000 given away in cash prizes and the pledges for these are already being received.

The Fair Association, which is in charge of the event, is not a profit sharing concern and all of the funds taken in by the association is used to defray the expenses of the exhibits which are held annually.

On account of this fact the fair management desires to have all the assistance possible from a financial point of view.

Subscriptions have already been pledged from many of the people of the county who have taken deep pride in the event for the past twenty years, and this season's event will receive financial aid from all quarters.

The fact that $30,000 has been pledged for cash premiums this year indicates that the public is deeply interested in the coming event which promises to exceed any previous show that the association has ever held.

THIS IS FINAL DAY MIAMI ENGAGEMENT OF KENNEDY SHOWS

Today marks the close of the Con.T Kennedy show engagement in this city, and early tomorrow morning they will leave on their own special train of 32 cars. The Kennedy shows have been here for two weeks, and looking at it from an amusement standpoint it has been a big success, while the attendance has been all that was expected. The different attractions have been well patronized, and those who visited the shows were well pleased, and enjoyed the program offered in the various tents.

The Kennedy shows are the largest and best organization of this kind ever in Miami, and they made a most favorable impression on the residents of this city. The people with the shows have made many friends here who will remember them for a long time to come, and will be glad to welcome them back at some future time. Everything was conducted in a thorough businesslike manner, and the attendants were courteous and polite to the patrons The prettily decorated and well lighted midway presented an interesting picture, and even excluding the free attraction, there was always something doing on the pleasure zone to interest the patrons. The three rides, all in excellent condition, enjoyed good business, and were crowded most of the time.

There is no need for haste or hurry on the part of the Kennedy show people, as they have ample time to reach their next destination, and all of the shows will be open until late tonight. The programs will be given in their entirety, and arrangements have been made to accommodate a bumper crowd this evening. Mr. Kennedy has given orders that everything shall be operated tonight the same as it was on the opening night.

A NEW TRIAL TO BE ASKED BY M'KINNEY

Negro's Attorney Will Argue Motion Before Circuit Judge Branning Today.

A motion for a new trial will be made today for Clarence C. McKinney, the negro who was convicted of murder in the first degree recently for the killing of Rev. James Bolton, at Cocoanut Grove, on December 11 last.

McKinney has not as yet been sentenced by Judge Branning, who has been occupied with a number of civil cases and has not reached the McKinney sentence.

Damage Suit Verdict.

In the circuit court yesterday, a jury rendered a verdict for $125 damages in the suit of E. P. Fripp against Dr. J. W. Brown. The case grew out of an automobile accident in which Fripp sued for alleged damages caused by the physicians auto.

RAUS MIT DER MONK WHEN BAND CONCERT IS HOLDING SWAY

No doubt a hurdy gurdy makes good music—if nothing better can be had—but when the manipulator of such an instrument stands right in front of a band where a first class organization like the Royal Scotch Highlanders is playing, the audience is apt to be unappreciative, and something is likely to happen to dampen the enthusiasm of organist and monk.

This is exactly what happened during the morning concert by the Highlanders Thursday, but the sequel has not yet been told.

Indignant residents and tourists began calling the Chamber of Commerce by telephone before the concert ended, complaining about the man and the monk.

As a result there is a noticeable absence of organ grinders and simians in the down town district, for the edict went forth from police headquarters to that effect.

PROMINENT EDITOR BUYS A HOME HERE

F. W. Shepperd, editor and publisher of the Fire and Water Engineer, who reached the city several days ago, for the purpose of spending a part of the winter, has become so pleased with Miami that he has purchased a home here and will return each winter hereafter. Mr. Shepperd is an authority on fire matters and has been engaged in looking over the local fire department and Miami's means of combating flames.

THE WORLD'S BOOK OF 1917.

Pre-eminent in the Matter of Meeting Reference Demands of Every Kind.

The year 1916 was one of important records in war abroad and in peace, industry and legislative progress at home. Among students, teachers, newspaper men and general readers there will be daily, and sometimes almost hourly occasions for reference to the dates of events, the text of new laws or other documents, the statistics of trades, finance or elections.

This surpassing importance of the twelvemonth just past places a fresh aspect upon the fact well established under tests of other years, that the World Almanac and Encyclopedia is the American publication pre-eminent in the matter of meeting reference demands of every kind. In the 1917 issue of nearly 1,200 pages, this annual presents the last word of the calendar hour for the first and last of its uncounted consultants. It runs the ravage of events from pugilism to president-making, from politics to preaching, from automobiles to agriculture, from records of destruction to records of construction.

In the pages given to war are a chronological table of battle events abroad, the kaiser's peace proposal, President Wilson's note to the belligerents, a list of peace societies and movements, the text of our own army bill, details of American preparedness plans, texts of peace treaties, and contributions to relief funds.

The new United States general revenue law, including income tax changes is printed in full. There are also the national laws on farm loans, rural post roads, trusts and child labor, together with various state laws on workmen's compensation and widow's pensions. There is a review of all important legislation of 1916 in New York and other states.

Election figures include the official returns of the presidential vote from all the states. Statements are given of campaign receipts and disbursements by the national parties.

Motor car laws of the states are summarized and particulars are given of automobile organizations and manufacturers.

In medicine there are special papers on anthrac and of infantile paralysis the latter with reference to last summer's epidemic and the results of study by doctors and health experts.

Along with departments new to this issue, the almanac retains its customary pages of tabulated facts and figures in all lines, its tables of the year's news events, its mortuary lists, its pedigrees of millionaires, its population figures, directories of state and national governments and countless features of up-to-date interest. The book's distinction lies in serving no special field but in specially serving the whole field of readers' reference.

WANT SOME NEW MEMBERS

So Chamber of Commerce Committee will Start a Campaign to Secure Them.

Every owner of property in Miami will be approached by a committee of the chamber of commerce on January 29th 30th and 31st and invited to join the chamber. This decision was reached last night by the directors of that body.

It was decided that the campaign for membership which was deferred a short time ago will be held then and a strong committee will work diligently during those three days in the effort to greatly increase the membership.

The directors realize they declared, that it is difficulty for any Miami business man to leave his own affairs at this season, but they believe enough can be found who feel the interests of the city are above all else to make a thorough canvass.

CROWDED SCHOOLS PROBABLY DEMAND MORE BUILDINGS

Already Predicted That Some of the City Structures Must Be Enlarged.

That additional room will be needed for the graded and grammar schools of Miami next season is the belief of County Superintendent R. E. Hall, who figures that the twenty percent increase in school attendance this year will more than overcrowd the buildings next year.

According to Superintendent Hall there are 2,794 white school children enrolled in the city schools against 2,349 last year, which means an increase of almost twenty percent over the preceding year.

Further than that, Superintendent Hall looks for a greater increase, which will boost the average considerably. In addition there are 453 colored pupils enrolled in the city, making the total enrollment 3,247.

Superintendent Hall believes that the high school will answer the purpose for another year, but is sure that the other schools will be overcrowded unless double daily sessions are held.

AMUSEMENTS

"Little Girl Next Door." Last Showing at Paramount Today.

"The Little Girl Next Door," the wonderful picturization of vice which tears the mask from white slavery and reveals it in its hideousness, is drawing large audiences to the Paramount theatre where it is to be run today for the last time. It is safe to say that few who have seen the picture would have believed that conditions are depicted in the series of episodes of which it consists are duplicated in the underworld of our large cities but the vivid and realistic picture which takes the spectator into the haunts of vice are all based upon actual testimony of young girls who appeared before the Illinois Vice Commission. Nothing is exaggerated. There are harpies in human form who prey upon young girls there are rich rogues who pay cadets and frocurceses for their work, and there are rich noble women and courageous district attorneys who are making a fight against this worst of all evils in the same manner and against the same odds as are shown in several reels of "The Little Girl Next Door."

Hippodrome Theatre.

Tomorrow William S. Hart makes his appearance in a new characterization in the Triangle-Kay Bee play from the pen of J. G. Hawks, entitled "Truthful Tulliver."

"Truthful Tulliver" is the absorbing tale of a fighting newspaper man who drove wickedness out of Glory Hole and in accomplishing it became instrumental in the working out of two romances. Its action is laid in a small Arizona mining hamlet in the early sixties, and revolves about the timely advent of a journeyman editor with a big heart, a clean soul and two guns.

Coming—"Where Are My Children?" This current release of the Universal Company, written by Lucy Payton and Franklin Hall and produced by Lois Weber, has for its foundation the theory of birth control and is based on the famous trial of Margaret Sanger which received so much publicity recently.

SMOKES FOR THE BELGIAN FIGHTING MEN

Fifteen Quarters Handed in by Miami Residents and Tourists---List Open.

Only a quarter to throw!

Responding to the appeal in yesterday's Herald, a number of persons have handed into the office of this paper their quarters to supply some Belgian soldier with a few good smokes. A couple of good fellows took it upon themselves to make it two and four soldiers that they wanted to supply.

That's good feeling and starts the ball rolling.

Who'll be the next at a quarter a throw?

The list this morning stands:

Robert Kilpatrick	$1.00
S. F. Knock	50
F. B. Shutts	25
F. B. Stoneman	25
L. A. Warner	25
Margorie S. Douglas	25
Isidor Cohen	25
H. B. Vivian	25
A. N. Kinsman, Austin, Minn.	25
J. F. Jaudon	25
William Floto, Kennedy Shows.	25
Total	$3.75

This assures that fifteen Beligian soldiers will receive each a package of fifty good cigarettes and a package of smoking tobacco, but Miami good fellows ought to take good care of a good many more of the boys fighting in the trenches

One contributor yesterday said: "I am not a smoker, but here is my fifty cents to get tobacco for the soldiers. I hope it will prove a solace to a couple of the fellows in the trenches."

Let us take your subscription. It is only a quarter a throw.

MIAMI EDUCATOR TO ESTABLISH BUSINESS COLLEGE IN SANFORD

A. H. Perry of Miami is taking steps to establish a business college in Sanford. He is now investigating various buildings in that city for the purpose of selecting the definite location. This will be in addition to his other business college in Miami and elsewhere.

The Sanford Herald, referring to the enterprise says:

"Mr. Perry will give the Sanford school much of his time and attention and the school here will be in charge of a competent instructor all of the time. Mr. Perry is a member of the Miami Board of Trade and has the endorsement of the citizens of that city. Among the officers and directors of the Miami College are some of the best citizens and largest business men of Miami and that he will give Sanford a good business institution can be assured. A good business college here would draw patronage from this part of Florida and would help the city in many ways."

OLDSMOBILE EXHIBIT

The Stanwood Auto Co. have received a new 1917 model Oldsmobile which will be shown at the local auto show which is to open at the Elser pier on Monday next. The car is very attractive being an eight cylinder, seven passenger machine with all modern improvements and many additions to the last year's model. It is the first 1917 car to be delivered in Florida, and will attract unusual attention from the fact that it has never been seen by residents of this state and many of those who are visiting in Miami. It is one of the same models that attracted so much attention at the recent New York Automobile show.

BACK TO THE PACIFIC

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sweezey, of Fresno, California, have returned home in their Oldsmobile car after making the trip all the way from the Pacific coast state to Miami several weeks ago. The couple had a most remarkable journey across the continent and left with the intetntion of spending several weeks on another route. During their stay in this city they kept their Oldsmobile with the Stanwood Auto Co. on Thirteenth street.

WHEN YOU BUY

MOORE HAVEN LAND

YOU HAVE A

Real Asset—Highest Possible Security—Dividend Earner—Sure Speculation

Nothing Is a More Definite Asset

than the ownership of some real agricultural land, and to have a small or large acreage bought, and paid for, gives one a standing in the business world that could not otherwise be had.

The Basis of SECURITY is LAND and when you loan money, you consider a first mortgage on real agricultural land as the finest possible security—You know your money is SAFE—Then why not buy for yourself what acreage you can of the most genuine farming land obtainable. and have your money invested where it is absolutely SECURE.

Make Moore Haven a Dividend Earner For You and that does not mean that you necessarily must give up your position here, because you can have it arranged to have your land farmed for you. Of course, if you are looking for a home there where you can go and farm it yourself, so much the better for you, but you can make your Moore Haven land earn tremendous dividends—real velvet, and live here or elsewhere.

If You Will Speculate—Have a Sure Speculation and let MOORE HAVEN be that for you. You know the price of Bermuda Potato lands—$1,000 per acre, and they have to overcome the duty handicap on all shipments here. You know the prices fo California Lands—$1,000 and $1,500 per acre. You know the prices of the MOORE HAVEN LANDS, $65.00 and $75.00, and they offer an all-year-round farming opportunity. SEASON FOR MULLET WILL OPEN SUNDAY IN FLORIDA WATERS

Those who make a living by fishing, as well as anglers who engage in the sport of catching fish for a pleasure, will be pleased to hear that the open season for mullet will begin on January 21, which will be tomorrow.

Mullet are a good eating fish and tons of them are shipped to northern markets every season. They are also regarded as the best bait that can be found in nearby waters, and for this reason the tourists, who spend their winters here, use large quantities of them.

The closed season began on November 20 last when the catching of mullet was prohibited by law on account of their spawning period.

The law has not prohibited these fish from being taken in nets beyond the three mile limit, however, but the catching of them by cast nets within this distance has been lived up to.

Biscayne Bay is alive with the small mullet which are used extensively for bait, and the fishermen and boatmen will rejoice when the time comes for them to gather them in to be used for this purpose.

New York city entertained 663 conventions in 1916.

HELPING BOYS BY Y. M. C. A. TRIED PLANS

How the Experienced Secretary Becomes Invaluable Just When He Is Needed.

EVOLUTION OF A LAD

From the Cradle to Self Consciousness Is Explained by Mr. Frost.

The assistance that can be given by the Y. M. C. A. during that critical period of a boy's life known as his physical awakening, was the subject of an interesting interview had by a reporter for the Herald yesterday with W. S. Frost, general secretary of the Miami Y. M. C. A.

"We have had much sentiment and some prose about the spring time of youth," said Mr. Frost, "but not many of us have made any serious analysis of what it really is.

"Starting with the boy before the germs of self consciousness have begun to breed and watching his physical development we note that his first playmates are girls and boys alike, and the only difference between them in his mind is that girls wear skirts and are afraid of toads, while the boys wear knickerbockers and pretend they like toads.

"A little later the boy is dimly aware that the girls do not run and jump and climb as they used to do, but he vainly seeks the explanation further than to lay it to the girl's overcareful mother and the fear of mussing her dress. Then it is that he reaches the conclusion that he is glad he is not a girl.

"Then comes the period of girl hatred, a general belief that all girls are good for is to get into a boy's way, and to be a general nuisance.

"But just as he has become fully convinced that there should be no girls in a boy's paradise, he finds himself looking into the blue depths of some sweet little maiden's eyes. Then there is a throb in his heart, a tremor of the muscles, and the red blood goes surging to his face in blushes that mount to the roots of his hair.

"A moment before she was nothing but a nuisance of a girl—now she has become an angle and he is in paradise because he is near her.

"What makes him blush to look into her eyes today when yesterday he would not turn his head to look at her? What gives him the endurance of an animal to carry her miles on her sled and a longing desire to scale mountains and cross seas for her?

"It is the bursting of the buds of spring and with it he has passed the threshold of boyhood and entered the door of youth. A hitherto unused part of his brain, a new center, has suddenly been awakened and as a result he has thoughts, emotions, desires, aspirations and impulses which before were unknown to him.

"I doubt if ever a mortal is nearer the spiritual than at this moment of his physical awakening. Here is the turning point in the life of a boy which if promptly recognized and rightly understood leads on to manhood's purity. What a pity that the period of this awakening is so brief and that the springtime seems in such a hurry to advance to a full summer season of fruits and flowers.

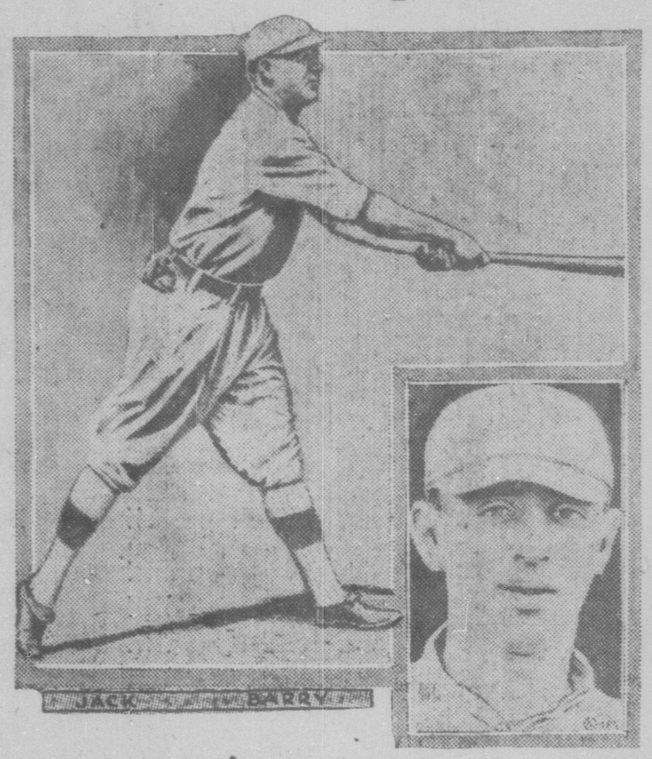

"If this boy were a flower we would analyze him by pulling off each petal, stamen, anther and pistol and tell just how each is developed and what its functions, but being a boy and not a flower we must be content to guess at his feelings and if the guess is wrong, what matters it? He is only a boy.

"It seems almost cruel that we should take the unfeeling knife and expose all these tender emotions and lay them bare on the dissecting table in analyzing the impulses of the awakening life of a boy, but our failure to do so may be the undoing of the boy.

"It is natural that as he grows older he will become reticent regarding the things which make for his development and the unfolding life and it is at this time that the secretary of boys' work in the Y. M. C. A., who has already won his way into the boy's heart by a close comradship, can become a tremendous factor in shaping his course along the lines of true and noble manhood.

"If this expert in boys' work is given the opportunity to meet with outstretched hands the awakening boy at the very gateway of budding youth and guide him safely over that patch which is so thickly beset with pitfalls he will not only have brought future happiness to that individual boy but will have laid the foundation for the physical and moral betterment of our nation which shall not be shaken by winds or floods, because it will be founded upon a rock."

TWO VIEWS OF RED SOX NEW MANAGER

Barry has been a member of clubs which have won the championship in baseball six times, and with his present club he stands a good chance of again winning the championship next year. He will continue to play second base for the Boston club.

LID AT KEY WEST IS SAID TO BE ON AND FITTING TIGHT

The city of Key West is making strong claims to having a "lid," which is said to be "on" tight.

It refers to gambling and enforcement of liquor laws.

On this subject the Key West Citizen says:

"Sheriff Jaycocks is firm in his statement that the "lid" is on and is enforcing the gambling and liquor laws to the letter.

"Saturday night the sheriff and his deputies kept a close look-out for infractions of the law, and visited several places that in former days have not been above suspicion, but no violations were found.

"Saloons are now observing the Davis package law, and closing promptly at 6 o'clock.

"Judge W. Hunt Harris said that the sheriff and other officials would have his earnest co-operation for law enforcement and that a jail sentence would be given if it became necessary."

KIBOSH ON THE BLOATED OYSTER

New York, Jan. 19.—By official ukase the New York board of health has put its stamp of disapproval on the so-called bloated oyster. No longer will the dealers be permitted to use the cold water method of cleansing the succulent bivalves, since an order of the board of health came into effect today absolutely prohibiting the practice.

Oysters absorb fresh water like a sponge, and it bloats them until they are 10 to 25 per cent overweight. For this water, which as often as not is not even aqua pura, the public for years has been paying a very fancy price. Federal chemists have discovered that a saline solution of the same temperature as that of the native element of the oyster will insure successful shipping without having the fattening effect of fresh water, and it is on this that the board of health has based its order.

Local dealers complain that a good deal of their trade will be ruined if the ruling is permitted to stand. They say that they will be unable to compete with dealers outside of New York, upon whom the health board's ban does not fall.

THE CRADLE OF DIME NOVELS

Tranquill Home in Which "Nick Carter" Wrote His Blood-Curdling Tales

Battle Creek, Mich.—From the window of his quiet, book-lined room, "Nick Carter," writer of "thrillers," could look over green fields and orchard bloom to the sparkling waters of Lake Goguac.

Until a month ago the man who turned out exciting stories of hairbreadth adventures in the grime and noise of city streets, sat at his dignified desk in his peaceful room on the Grand boulevard here, and when he was tired of looking at the rows of heavy calf-bound books that formed his library, turned his eyes to a scene of spectacular contrast to the settings of the stories he was pounding out on his typewriter.

"Nick Carter" wrote of New York dives, but he wrote of them at a reposeful country home.

He wrote of crime in the midst of austere respectability.

He wrote of noise and tumult in a stillness that, in winter, was broken only by the crunch of ice on the shores of the lake, and in summer by the buzz of honey bees.

His stories were the lineal descendants of the "shilling shockers" of a generation ago, but the author was a kindly, sedate gentleman with a pleasant smile and a friendly nod for everybody. Reformers held up his books as responsible at times for boy's daredevil outbreaks, for their running away from home, for pranks and for wild rebellion against law and order. The author himself, was a peaceful, highly respectable citizen.

"Nick Carter" was known throughout the United States. Alfred B. Tozer—who was Nick Carter and a dozen other authors all at the same time—was not known a mile from his quiet country home.

The man who died in Battle Creek a few days ago was a fiction foundry. His typewriter turned out literally hundreds of stories. Some were signed by Nick Carter, many by other names. Tozer was the "Inspector Clark" who wrote "The Cost of the Clue" and "The Victim of the Occult."

He was the "Dick Stewart" who wrote "A Queen of Chance" and "The Strength of the Weak." He was the "John K. Stafford" who wrote "Morgan, the Dauntless," and "Carl Frisbie" who penned "A Flash of Light."

When boyhood turned from the luridly adventurous type of fiction to books reflecting the "service" ideals of the Boy Scout movement, Tozer turned, too. Instead of volumes depicting daring holdups of the Overland Express and the drugging of the beautiful heroine in Ting Ying Lo's opium joint in New York's tenderloin, his adaptable typewriter ground out stories of the faithful, efficient, brave and gallant Boy Scout who rises to fame and fortune in such strange ways in the books signed by Harvey Ralphson.

FIRE CHIEF IS MIAMI VISITOR

W. J. Black, Head of Atlantic City Fire Department, Here For Two Weeks' Vacation.

W. J. Black, chief of the fire department of Atlantic City, N. J., is on a two weeks' visit to this city, and is being shown about by Chief Henry Chase of the local fire department.

Chief Chase had the venerable fireman on an automobile trip to the south end of the county Thursday, and upon their return, the visitor was taken to Miami Beach, where several hours were spent.

Accompanying Chief Black is Ernest G. Hartman, a prominent Atlantic City business man, and the two are delighted with Miami which they say is the finest city on the Atlantic coast.

Chief Black is a retired Philadelphia fireman and was regarded as one of the best that the Quaker City has ever produced. When the Jersey coast resort found the need of a chief he was at once recommended for the place and he at once set to build up one of the strongest institutions that that city ever had.

The chief was made ill by a recent severe fire and his physicians ordered him to take a rest. Mr. Black met Chief Chase, when the latter was at the fireman's convention at Atlantic City, a few years ago, and had heard him tell the other chiefs of the beautiful city on Biscayne Bay. He decided that he would come to Miami.

He arrived at the San Carlos Thursday, and was at once taken in charge by Chief Chase, who showed the visitors the great citrus belt of south Dade county, and the many other attractions that Miami boasts of. This has pleased them so much that they have fallen in love with the place and will depart with regret in about two weeks.

Chief Black examined the local fire department and expressed surprise over it, although he says that it could be improved upon with additional apparatus. The efficiency is perfect, in his opinion.

Speaking of the Atlantic City department, Chief Black says that they have only recently adopted the two platoon system which is working fine, he says. One platoon is off duty for fourteen hours and on duty for a period of ten hours.

Atlantic City has a population of about fifty-six thousand people and maintains seven fire stations, employing 175 men. The department is maintained on a $3.50 per capita tax, while Miami's per capita tax is about $1.35.

When Chief Black and Mr. Hartman left Atlantic City, the thermometer was four degrees above zero, and they could hardly realize the great change in the climate in the two places, especially from the fact that Miami is but forty-eight hours ride from the Jersey coast resort.

ATLANTA IN RACE TO BE DESIGNATED DIVISIONAL POST

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 19.—Plans are being made to have Atlanta designated as a location for one of the three divisional posts, accommodating 20,000 men, assigned to the Atlantic seaboard by the war department under the provisions of the new defense act, calling for a complete reorganization and distribution of the nation's land forces.

The fight for the post for Atlanta definitely began Sunday morning at a breakfast given to Major General Leonard A. Wood, former chief of staff of the United States army, by the Atlanta chamber of commerce at the Capital City club, when the general outlined in detail the plan of the government for the establishing of a post in what is officially known in army circles as the Atlanta-Chattanooga division of the Atlantic seaboard.

The general spoke in a straightforward, clean-cut manner, telling just exactly what the requirements for the camp were and what would be the final tests of each site proposed. The controlling considerations are, according to the general, first, the railroad facilities, that is, the number of trunk lines that are able to handle large bodies of troops, north, east, south and west in the shortest length of time.

OHIO IS TO TACKLE LIQUOR ISSUE AGAIN

Columbus, O., Jan. 19.—The saloon question in Ohio, which has been more or less dormant since the defeat of the state-wide amendment by the voters in the fall of 1914, promises to come to the front again this year as the leading issue in state politics.

Plans to submit a state-wide prohibition amendment to the voters again next fall are to be prepared by the Ohio Anti-Saloon league here this week. Today the trustees of the league met in conference and tomorrow there will assemble a general state convention of the anti-saloon workers.

Although it is announced that the meetings are to decide whether the prohibition issue will be put to a vote this year, it is generally believed that this already has been decided upon and that merely definite plans for the campaign remain to be worked out. It is said that the plan favored is to seek the repeal of the home-rule constitutional amendment and have a state-wide dry amendment passed next fall. The nature of the campaign has been virtually decided upon, it is said, as the result of an informal referendum among prohibition leaders of almost all counties in the state.

The opinion seems unanimous that the present year is the time to wage a successful campaign, according to J. A. White, the state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league. The league has invited co-operation of all church organizations, labor organizations, temperance bodies, granges and other organizations which wish to become affiliated in the campaign.

Following the defeat of Governor Frank B. Willis, republican, in the recent election, the prohibition situation took on an acute angle, inasmuch as it became associated defnitely with the two major political parties. The known "dry" leanings of Mr. Willis are said to have caused the liquor interests to go to the assistance of James M. Cox, democrat, who was elected governor. In retaliation, it is said, the republican organization may give support to the dry movement, or at least not oppose it as vigorously as it otherwise would have done.

GREAT CONFERENCE AT TUSKEGEE

Tuskegee, Ala., Jan. 19.—The annual session of the Tuskegee Negro Conference opened at Tuskegee Institute today. There is a large attendance, many prominent southern educators and business men of both races being present.

The proceedings began as usual with an agricultural parade. The parade this year not only included an exhibition of the various activities at Tuskegee Institute, but also illustrated by a series of elaborate floats, how the new economic conditions are being met by the farmers of the south.

The conference proper was opened in the institute chapel with an address by Principal Robert R. Moton. The program for the remainder of the day provided for an exhaustive discussion of "the new economic conditions now facing the south."

Much of the discussion naturally centered in the subject of the migration of the colored people from the southern to northern communities. Many reasons were advanced for the rapidly changing conditions, chief among them being last year's disastrous crop shortage caused by the floods and the boll weevil.

Another leading subject of discussion at the conference was the conservation of negro health. It has already been decided by the Tuskegee Institute and the National Negro Business League to join hands in an organized campaign to improve health conditions among the negro people in all sections of the country.

Cotton cloth is produced in Nicaragua only in small quantities, and the amount imported practically represents all that is used in the country.

CALLING ON MOOSE TO MEET IN TAMPA FOR ORGANIZATION

Florida Moose are to meet in Tampa to organize a state association, if announced plans are carried out. The Tampa Tribune says:

"A convention of representatives and members from all Florida lodges of the Loyal Order of Moose is planned to be held here during the South Florida Fair. The purpose of the meeting is to form a State Moose Association, for the mutual benefit of all the lodges. An entertainment program will be furnished and a splendid time is looked forward to.

"Tampa Lodge No. 798, Loyal Order of Moose, has been for some time considering calling the convention for formation of the State Association, and recently a committee was appointed, consisting of M. Henry Cohen, Dr. J. O'Donoghure, Dr. G. A. Lassman, C. C. Cotten and George Dickenson, to decide on ways and means. This committee decided it best to call the meeting during the South Florida Fair.

"The State Moose meeting, it was decided, will be called to meet in Tampa Saturday morning, February 3. This will be one of the biggest days of the entire fair period and it will give the Moose a chance to participate in the military and organization parade of that afternoon. With a large number of Moose lodges in nearby cities, it is hoped to get between 200 and 300 in line.

"Chairman M. Henry Cohen and Secretary Dr. George Lassman are sending out letters to all of the Moose lodges in the state."

FLORIDA IS LEADING IN TOURIST TRAVEL FOR THIS SEASON

Railroad men of the central southern states are united in saying that Florida travel never exceeded that of the present season.

W. A. Becker, general passenger agent of the Queen & Crescent railway, is quoted as saying:

"Evidence that Florida is more popular than ever before, this season, is shown in the fact that two days out of last week twenty-one extra sleepers were detailed for trains passing through Chattanooga on the way to Florida. These trains were from Cincinnati and points west and northwest of that city."

The division passenger agent of the same system at Chattanooga says that the passenger traffic to Florida is heavier this year than any he could remember. "More extra equipment," he said, "has been used this season than ever before and it is still being called for. The fact that two days last week twenty-one extra cars were attached to trains passing through Chattanooga is evidence of the fact that tourists are choosing Florida in preference to all other winter resorts. People who formerly went abroad or to the west in the winter, are going now to Florida instead."

HEIRESS HAD TO WORK

While Estate Worth $100,000 Was in Litigation, Girl Earned $6 a Week.

Hartford, Conn.—Possessed of a fortune of nearly $100,000, yet obliged to work in a department store at $6 a week for living expenses, was the experience here recently of Miss Marion Pomeroy Smith, the Hyannis, Mass., heiress, whose legal fight for her inheritance caused a sensation.

For two weeks Miss Smith, known not so long ago as the "psychopathic" heiress, worked behind the linen counter of one of the largest department stores in Hartford selling goods to women who had often read of Miss Smith's fortune and envied her possession of it.

"I just had to do it, or go without carfare," Miss Smith said, speaking of the experience. "You see, several months ago every cent of my fortune was tied up by litigation, settling court and lawyers' expenses, and it was a case of earning money myself, or else borrowing it. I preferred to work and I chose the department store. I got the position myself and I worked in the store two weeks."

CITY MANAGER PLAN GROWING

(New York Times.)

The "Commission Manager Plan" for cities has been defined as follows: 1. Unification of powers; all corporate powers to be vested in a single group of elective officers, constituting a council or commission. 2. The short ballot; the council to be elected in one of the following ways: (a) at large—if the number of members to be chosen at any time is five or less; (b) by wards; (3) by proportional representation. 3. executive organization, nonpolitical executive functions delegated to an official appointed by the commission to serve during their pleasure, to be known as the city manager or other appropriate title; position of city manager to be open to non-residents; salary of city manager to be determined by the council and variable from time to time; the city manager's executive powers to include appointment and removal and general control of all subordinates, subject to such restrictions (e. g., civil service regulation and audit) as may be necessary to prevent abuses of power without diffusing responsibility. Cities having decided to adopt this plan, with population and year of plan operation, are as follows:

FLORIDA.

If any earthly spot can claim "God's country" for its name
I think this land o' Florida's entitled to the same,
Its flowers an' sunshine an' its pretty skies so blue.
An' its lakes an' laughin' rivers, palm trees wavin' Howdy Do.

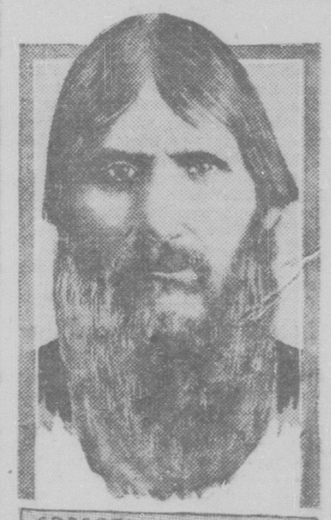

There's wealth an' opportunity a-waitin' for you here
If you've got some pluck an' hustle an' you really are sincere.
Oh, they flock here by the thousands an' they get a glad surprise
For it's rich man's playground an' the poor man's paradise.

When the good Lord made this world o' ours He first made Eden fair
An' our first parents He put in to keep that garden there.
He knew they'd up an' lose it so way
He made a spot
That some day folks could journey to by wicked world forgot.

That place he made was Florida, the land o' rose an' song.
An' bright warm winter sunshine an' peace the whole day long.
And sent old Ponce de Leon to find it
(He was wise)
This rich man's pretty playground an' this poor man's paradise.

RUSSIA'S "SACRED DEVIL," WHO WAS ASSASSINATED.

GREGORY RASPUTIN

Gregory Rasputin, called the "Sacred Devil of Russia," whose influence over the royal family, particularly the czarina, became obnoxious, was quietly assassinated by several relatives of the czar and high officials. He was one of those strange mystical characters who have floated through all Russian history. Rasputin had gained such power over the royal family that it was feared he would interiere seriously with the conduct of the war. At any rate he interfered with officials of such importance that the Russian police failed to prosecute the men who killed him.

YELLOWSTONE TRAILERS IN SESSION AT OSHKOSH

Oshkosh, Wis., Jan. 19.—The annual convention of the Wisconsin section of the Yellowstone Trail Association began in this city today and will continue in session over tomorrow. Officers of the national association are in attendance and an elaborate program has been prepared by the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, under whose auspices the meeting is being held.

"HANDCUFF KING" GIVES BERNHARDT A STATUE.

After John Drew had presented to Sarah Bernhardt, "in the name of the actors of America," a statuette of herself, the widow of the sculptor sent her a bill. "The actors of America" had failed to pay for their gift. Thereupon, Harry Houdini, the "Handcuff King" who is not recognized by "the actors of America," concluded it was a rather shabby piece of business, and he paid the widow for the statuette.

CANADIAN PARLIAMENT

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 19.—What in all probability will be the last session of the present dominion parliament was formally opened Thursday by the new governor-general, the duke of Devonshire.

The occasion was marked by unusually brilliant ceremonials and the crowd in attendance was the largest seen at a parliamentary opening in years.

The governor-general was accompanied by an imposing military escort from Rideau Hall to the parliament buildings and return.

There was the usual guard of honor from the governor-general's foot guards in front of the parliament buildings to receive the duke of Devonshire.

As his grace entered the senate chamber there was the booming of guns from Nepean Point. The galleries and floor were filled to capacity when the duke of Devonshire delivered the speech from the throne.

The speech re-affirmed the position taken by the dominion government in its policies relating to the war and lauded the patriotism of the people for the generous share they have taken in the defense of the empire. Emphasis was placed upon the necessity for further sacrifices in order that the great conflict may be brought to a glorious conclusion.

Measures of fianace necessitated by war conditions, together with legislation calculated to meet the changed economic conditions that are expected to follow the close of the war, are expected to occupy the most attention at the parliamentary session.

Sir Robert L. Borden, the dominion premier, will be in attendance during the first month and will then go to England to take part in the imperial conference called by David Lloyd George.

After Sir Robert's departure the session may be continued under the leadership of Sir George Foster, if no executive difficulty occurs.

If, however, the situation should require it, there may be an adjournment during the premier's absence.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION CONFERENCE BEGINS TODAY

Prominent educators from many states are in attendance.

Calomel Salivates! It Makes You Sick and You Lose a Day's Work—Dodson's Liver Tone Acts Better Than Calomel and Is Harmless for Men, Women, Children—Read Guarantee!

Every druggist here, yes! your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling-off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it while Dodson's Liver Tone is safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist. A large family-sized bottle costs only 50 cents and if you find it doesn't take the place of dangerous, salivating calomel you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine, no sick headache, biliousness, ague, sour stomach or clogged bowels. Dodson's Liver Tone doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all next day like calomel.

Take a dose of calomel tonight and tomorrow you will feel sick, weak and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work!

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up with your head clear, your liver active, bowels clean, breath sweet and stomach regulated. You will feel cheerful and full of vigor and ready for a hard day's work.

You can eat anything afterwards without risk of salivating yourself or your children.

Get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and try it on my guarantee. You'll never again put a dose of nasty, dangerous calomel into your stomach.

BIG NIGHT FOR YALE GRIDIRONERS

New York, Jan. 19.—An elaborate program of entertainment has been arranged by the officers and members of the Yale Club of New York in celebration of the visit of Tad Jones and his victorious football stars, together with assistant coaches, who will pay this city tomorrow.

The affair will be in celebration of Yale's gridiron victories the past season over Harvard, Princeton, Colgate and other rivals.

The other festivities will open with a reception on the arrival of the players and coaches at the Yale Club.

Then the pigskin chasers will be guests of honor at a dinner to be held at the club.

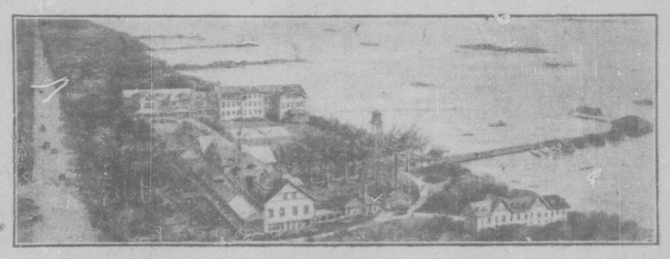

This dinner has been arranged by former 'varsity men who have won their "Y" in football, baseball, track and field competition or crew.

Following the dinner the athletes and their hosts will join in a theater party.

ARE YOU SAYING
Values Are Too High In Miami

If so, you were probably saying the same things when you were down here on a visit five years ago. If you were mistaken in your judgment then—

What Do You Think Your Opinion Is Worth?

Miami Real Estate has increased in value on an average of 25 per cent and better annually during the last five years. If you will look around and investigate as you should you will see that Miami is as yet only in its infancy. Consider the immense effect on Real Estate values the building of the Tamiami Trail, the Dixie Highway, deep water and the enormous building operation now under way and contemplated will have, and if you don't decide that Miami values and population will increase at a more rapid rate in the next five years, is your judgment no better than your opinion If you decide that I am right (which you will if you weigh the matter carefully), you of course cannot and will not miss the opportunity to invest in Miami Real Estate before you return north.

Here's Your Chance—Don't Overlook It

We have just placed on the market one of the best lot propositions of recent years, and we are offering the following very liberal terms and low prices:

Lots $350 to $750, Terms $50 DOWN AND $10 PER MO.

The property lies at the intersection of North Avenue D and Buena Vista Drive, well within the city limits, and is surrounded by well improved tracts and sub-divisions. We have let contracts for grading and paving the streets, water, sewers, electric lights and all modern improvements are available. For the first ten days of the sale we are offering a lot to the lucky purchaser who suggests the most appropriate name for our new sub-division.

Full information concerning the property will be gladly furnished, and our automobiles are at your service at any time convenient for you to make a personal tour of inspection. This implies no obligation on your part whatever, and we will consider it a compliment to us, and will appreciate the privilege of showing you through the grounds, whether you purchase a lot and enter the contest, or not.
